Learning Contract

Introduction

This learning contract contains points of agreement between the lecturer and students in the class regarding various aspects of the lecture. This includes course identity, course benefits, course descriptions, instructional objectives, learning strategies, learning materials, course assignments, assessment criteria, and the schedule for each course meeting.

Learning contract is useful as a reference for students to know their rights and obligations in a course. For example, in getting around the assessment method, students can see through the course contract how much the grades for assignments, quizzes, practicums, midterm examination (UTS), final term examination (UAS), and attendance are weighted.
